

The FCC needs to stick to the plan to protect citizens from the annoyances of telemarketers'. Is it not obvious that so many signed up for protection, why would you bow to the pressures of telemarketing companies, when you already know and understand the will of the people. We are always the victims of special interests. Its time to say no and put the citizenry first. That is the FCC's job! Sincerely, Kerry DeGiovanni